Raymond Spate To Reorganize Student Council For Efficiency

New Council Will Take Prompt Action On Program And New Budget For Coming Year

To reorganize the Student Council in order that it may function under the newly adopted constitution with the aid of the new president, Raymond Spate, who was elected president by acclamation at the regular council meeting held recently.

On the program were discussion and adoption of the constitution, and the appointment to the committee of student representatives to the General Board of University Students.

A meeting of the new student council was held Jan. 25. The members were elected after the student meeting Wednesday, which was called immediately after the program and budget for next year will be arranged. While the constitution calls for meetings only twice a month, it is hoped to develop a system of routine meetings and to arrange for a later meeting this year. A system of routine meetings and a later meeting this year is to be arranged.

A committee of the council was appointed to take charge of the student representation to the General Board of University Students.
